

Advantageous Thoughts

Volume 14, No. 2 — December 2010

The democracy will cease to exist when you take away from those who are willing to work and give to those who would not. —Thomas Jefferson

If you don't read the newspaper you are uninformed, if you do read the newspaper you are misinformed. —Mark Twain

Politics is the art of looking for trouble, finding it, misdiagnosing it, and then misapplying the wrong remedies. — Groucho Marx

It's only when you look at an ant through a magnifying glass on a sunny day that you realize how often they burst into flames. —Harry Hill

Mr. Attlee is a very modest man. Indeed he has a lot to be modest about. —Winston Churchill

One likes people much better when they're battered down by a prodigious siege of misfortune than when they triumph—Virginia Woolf

It has been said that politics is the second oldest profession. I have learned that it bears a striking resemblance to the first. —Ronald Reagan

Most of what we call management consists of making it difficult for people to get their jobs done. —Peter Drucker

Actually, it only takes one drink to get me loaded. Trouble is, I can't remember if it's the thirteenth or fourteenth. —George Burns

If you think you can do a thing or that you cannot do a thing, in either case you are right. —Henry Ford

My experience has taught me that a man who has no vices has damned few virtues. —Abraham Lincoln

After two days in hospital I took a turn for the nurse. — W.C. Fields
